ACADEMIC REGALIA

In observance of Commencement ceremony tradition, all participants wear full academic regalia, consisting of a traditional gown and mortarboard with tassel. Doctoral and Masters gowns are always hooded. The outside of the Doctoral hood is black and is banded with velvet in the color of the degree discipline (as opposed to the academic major). The satin interior of the hood presents the color of the degree-granting institution. Thus, an Otis College hood bears brown velvet, indicating Fine Arts (as prescribed by the Intercollegiate Code in 1895) and is lined with purple.
