

Graphic Design Minor

The Graphic Design minor immerses students in the indispensable and expansive field of Graphic Design. Students participate in critically engaged studio classes to develop their own viewpoint and practice, while creating books, posters, websites, campaigns, identities, and conceptual propositions using the considered interplay of text and image. A dynamic curriculum empowers students to creatively solve problems, propose alternatives, and work collaboratively to address the communication challenges of today. This minor includes courses designed to familiarize students with graphic design principles, skills, and professional practices, as well as an Art History course intended to provide a historical and theoretical understanding of the field.

Eligibility

The Graphic Design minor is open to students majoring in Architecture/Landscape/Interiors, Digital Media, Fine Arts and Toy Design. Because of their curricular requirements Fashion Design and Product Design majors will only be approved to enroll on a case-by-case basis. Students must be on track in their major and in good academic standing, with fewer than 6 credits behind and a cumulative GPA of 2.0. Graphic Design minors may participate in the Communication Arts Department's senior show on a case-by-case basis with approval from the Department Chair.

Required Courses

AHCS222	History of Graphic Design & Illustration	3.0	(fall or spring)
COMD208	Communication Studio II	3.0	(spring only)
COMD229	Typography II	3.0	(spring only)
COMD318	Publication	2.0	(fall only)
	Graphic Design Electives	4.0	(any semester)

Total Credits

15.0

See Communication Arts & Liberal Arts and Sciences Departments for course descriptions.

Each student will receive an individual academic plan that outlines how this minor fits into their major.
